CASEY CHUA, HAIRSTYLIST

In the biz More than 20 years

Famous Heads Jerry Hall, Gong Li, Anna Nicole Smith and Charlotte Church. He also created hairstyles for the local couture trunk shows for Nina Ricci, Ungaro, Matsuda and Issey Miyake in the '80s.

Who's He? One of Singapore's original hair gurus, Casey went the fashion shows/editorial route, before concentrating full-time on his salon, Casey Inc. For a good cut, he says one must consider one's lifestyle, daily routine and wardrobe to get something that's easy to upkeep, yet stylish.

Casey Says

A hairstyle that will never die out is the bob. It's chic and is easy to update and upkeep. It suits most women, though the end result depends on face shape, neck line and hair texture. Today's bob is much more layered and textured. However, if you don't like layering, Casey suggests adding colour instead for the illusion of layers.

Tips for updating your look:

1. Change the parting of your hair.
2. Cut a fringe. A short, blunt cut is great for stylish, confident individuals. Softer, wispy bangs are ideal for camouflaging a not-so-perfect complexion.
